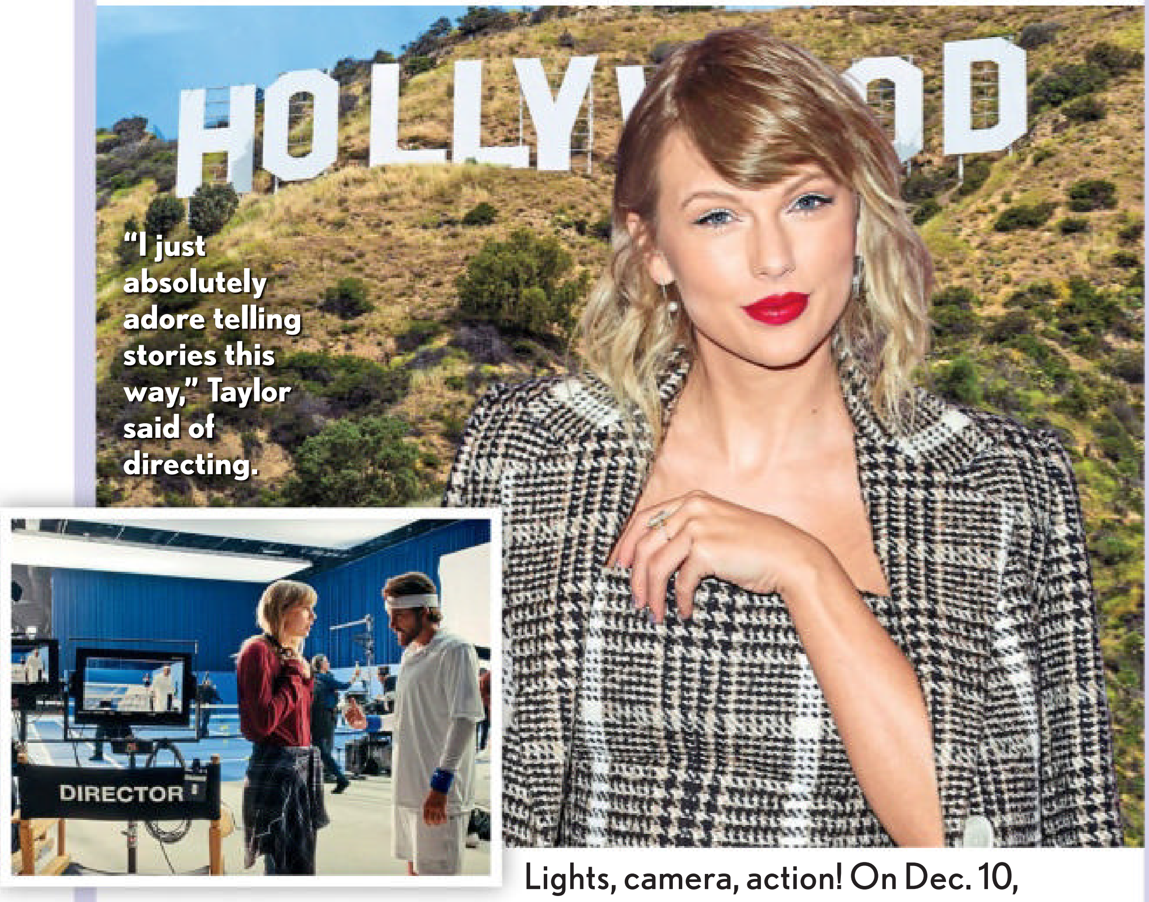
Adele's STAY-SLIM SECRET

Keeping her health and fitness in check! During her Las Vegas concert residency, Adele shared how she's maintaining her 100-pound weight loss. "Guess what I've started doing? I've started hiking," she told the crowd. "I really like it." While performing on stage at Caesars Palace is a physical feat in and of itself, the "Easy on Me" singer, 34, knew she needed something more. "Adele jokes that it's not a Beyoncé show, where she's constantly dancing and working up a sweat," says a source. "So, she makes sure to get outside and move her body. She loves putting on her headphones, blasting music and blocking out the world as she trudges up and down trails." Adele is prioritizing her mental health, too. The Grammy winner revealed to fans that she's back in therapy after taking a few years off. "Before, obviously, when I was going through my divorce, I was basically in like five therapy sessions a day. But I stopped holding myself accountable for my own behavior and the things I would say," said Adele. "Now I am doing it because I just want to make sure I'm topping myself up every week to make sure I can give you everything."

After her 2019 split from husband Simon Konecki, Adele was hitting the gym two to three times a week. "I got quite addicted to it," she admitted.

Taylor

TAKES HOLLYWOOD



"I just absolutely adore telling stories this way," Taylor said of directing.

Lights, camera, action! On Dec. 10, Searchlight Pictures announced that Taylor Swift will be directing her first feature-length film, for which she penned an original script. "This is something that Taylor's always wanted to do," dishes a source close to the "Wildest Dreams" singer, 32. "She's super excited." And so is the rest of Tinseltown! "Taylor's getting lots of congratulatory calls and messages from everyone in showbiz," says the source. "She's getting advice from other female directors like Olivia Wilde, too." Of course, Taylor's had some practice behind the camera, directing All Too Well: The Short Film, which is eligible for an Oscar nomination at this year's 95th annual Academy Awards. "Taylor's ready to conquer Hollywood," the source adds. "She's chipping away at her bucket list one item at a time, but this one is probably the most important one left."

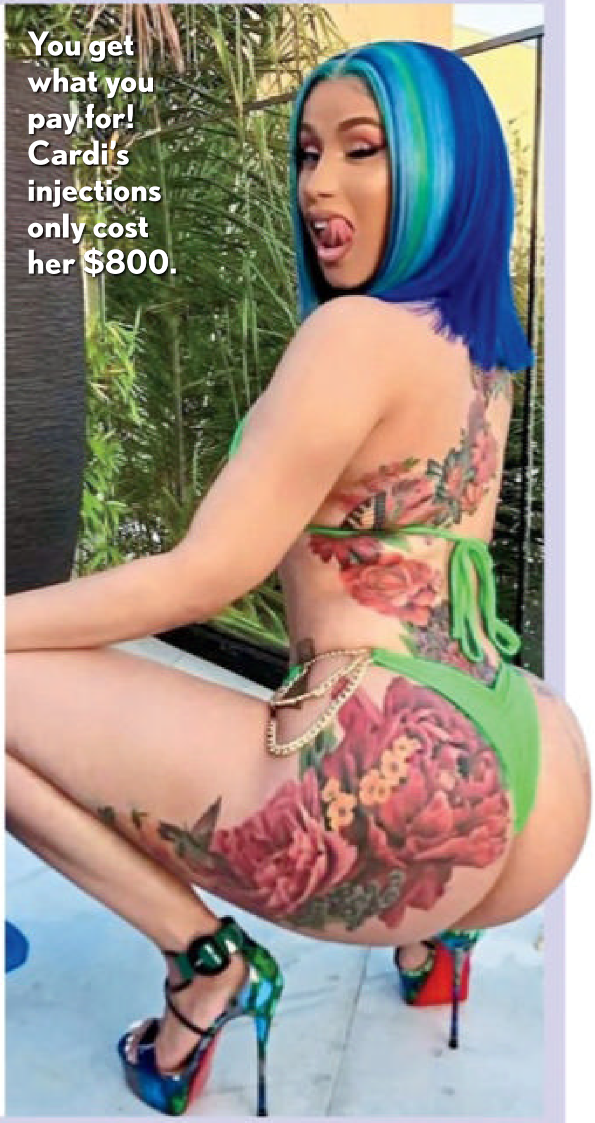
Cardi’s INJECTION REGRETS



You get what you pay for! Cardi’s injections only cost her $800.

Be careful! In a recent Instagram Live video, Cardi B warned fans against getting butt injections after having 95 percent of hers removed. The rapper, 30, got the procedure illegally done back in 2008 in a NYC basement apartment. “At the time, Cardi was so young and working as an exotic dancer. Everyone was doing those shots because they were affordable and available,” explains a source. But with time came complications. “Cardi likes to wear very revealing outfits, and the silicone was lumpy and looked very obvious,” says the source. “She can afford the best plastic surgery now, so she had all of the previous filler removed and is happy with how it turned out.”

BLAKE’S PAMPERED PREGNANCY

A simple favor? As Blake Lively awaits the arrival of her fourth child, husband Ryan Reynolds is going the extra mile to ensure the pregnant actress, 35, has everything she could ever want or need. “When Blake gets a midnight craving for ice cream, he’s up in a heartbeat and sprinting to the store to get it for her,” a source says of the Deadpool actor, 46. “Even after his late-night ice cream runs, Ryan still gets up early to make the kids breakfast.” Despite the temptation, the couple, who are already parents to daughters James, 7, Inez, 6, and Betty, 3, are waiting to find out the gender of their baby. “Some might assume Ryan wants a son, but he’s actually terrified of having a boy,” says the source. “He grew up with brothers and knows how wild it can get. If Ryan gets his wish, it’ll be another baby girl.”

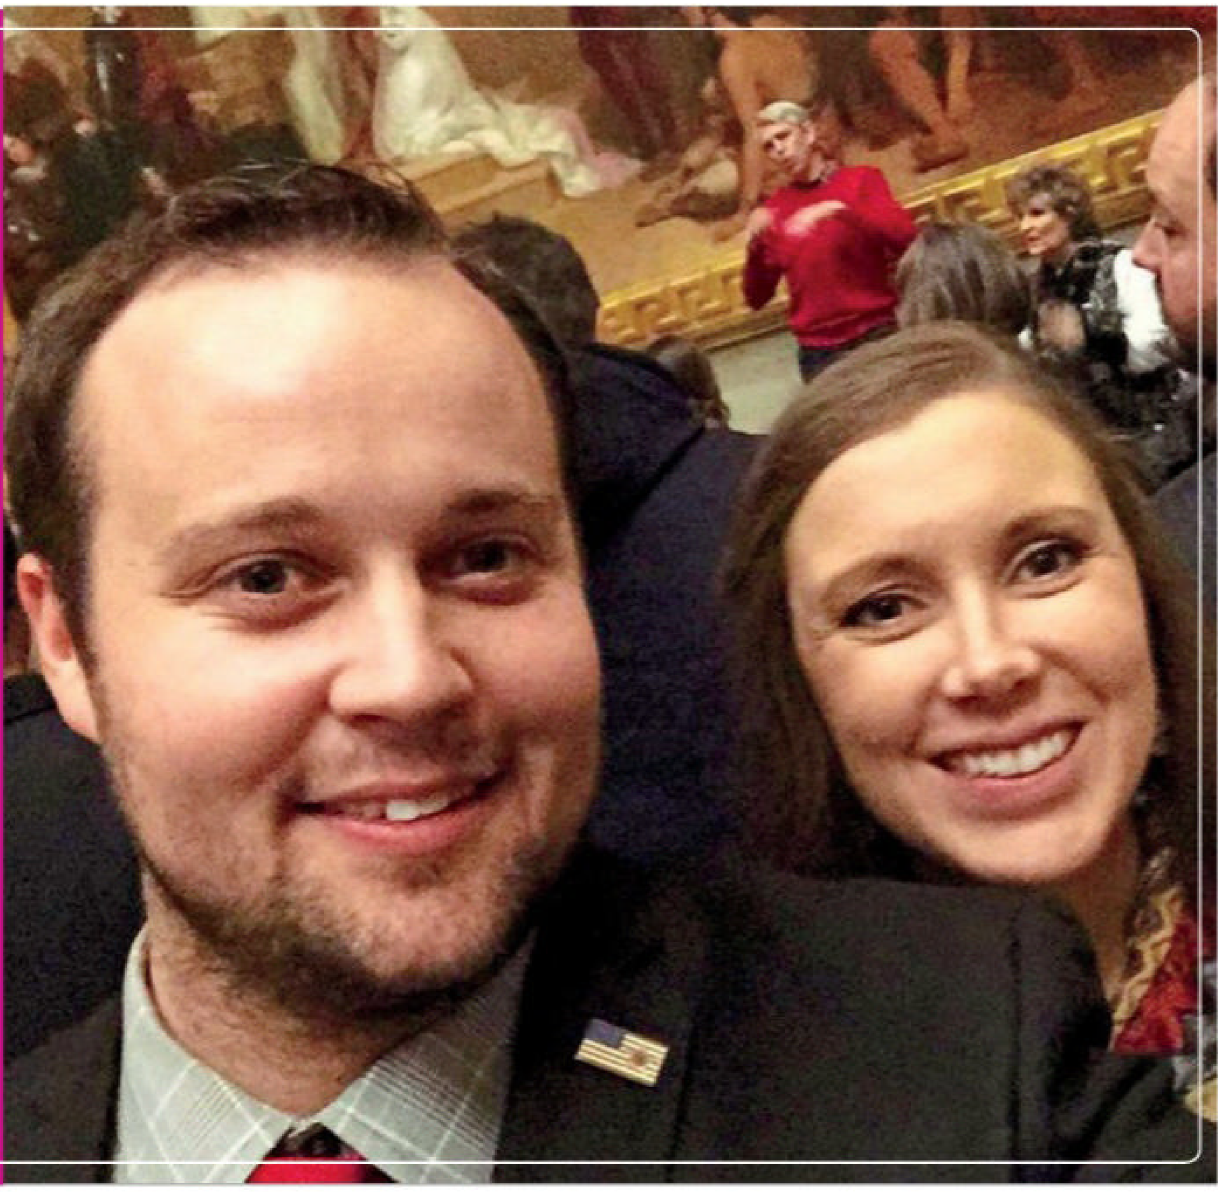
Sister Wives AT A BREAKING POINT

"This last year-and-a-half has really shattered what I thought our family was," said Robyn.

Another wife bites the dust! In the Sister Wives: One-on-One special, Kody Brown confirmed that he and Janelle have been separated for several months. The estranged pair, both 53, entered a spiritual marriage in 1993 and share six kids: Logan, 28, Maddie, 27, Hunter, 25, Garrison, 24, Gabriel, 21, and Savanah, 18. "Janelle needed to move on. She and Kody grew apart, weren't compatible anymore," says a source. "She was tired of living a lie." From the sound of it, Janelle might not be alone. "It certainly feels like Kody's wives are abandoning ship," adds the source. "Everyone wants to know if Meri will leave him next. It's not a secret that she's been to hell and back in that relationship." After Christine, 50, divorced Kody in 2021, Meri, 51, opened up about their own marital troubles, confessing that she and Kody haven't been intimate in a decade. "Am I a sister wife when I don't have a husband?" Meri asked. "I have a husband, technically, but do I?" The only woman who remains wholly committed to Kody is Robyn, 44, his sole legally wedded spouse. "They handed him to me and said, 'We don't want to spend time with him,' basically," she said of her sister wives. As for what the future holds for this fractured family, the source admits: "It's like a house of cards, perpetually on the verge of crumbling." L&S

DUGGAR FAMILY DIVORCE?

Scratch Anna Duggar's name off the visitors list! Sources tell Life & Style the long-suffering wife of Josh Duggar is having a change of heart about their marriage. While Anna, 34, "swore she'd never divorce Josh because she doesn't believe in it, she's actually now considering it," says a source. Josh, 34, was sentenced to 151 months in prison on May 25 after he was found guilty of downloading and possessing child pornography back in December 2021. The disgraced Duggar son, who's currently serving his sentence at FCI Seagoville in Texas, may get out in 10 years, "but that's still a long time for Anna to wait around," notes the source. "So don't be surprised if she pulls the trigger and leaves him."



Paris

A BABY IN 2023!

Paris Hilton has her New Year's resolution: Start a family with hubby Carter Reum. "We just wanted to really enjoy our first year of marriage together as a couple, and we were always planning on 2023," the socialite, 41, said of pursuing IVF. "And we've just, you know, [been] getting the eggs all ready. They're all ready, and they're all waiting." While Paris has always wanted to become a mom, "I just never found the person that I could trust to do that with," she explained. "But now that I did, I just can't wait, and [Carter's] gonna be the best father, and we're just gonna have the most magical life together."

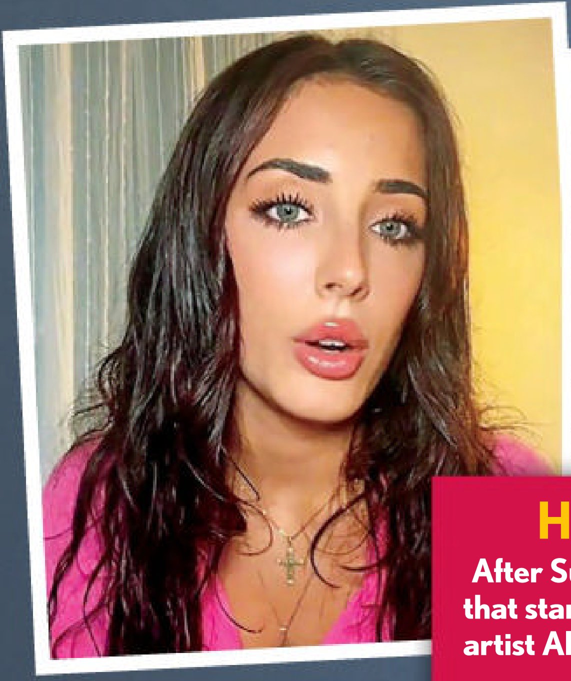
HOLLYWOOD MARRIAGES ON THE ROCKS

The holiday season hasn't been so merry for these couples as they struggle with relationship drama!

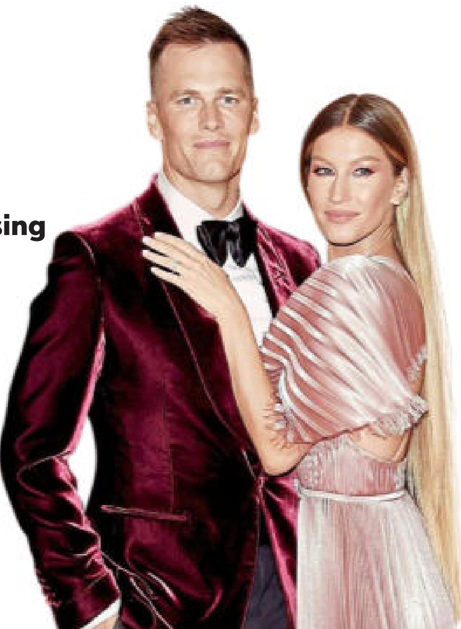


His Rumored Other Women

After Sumner (left) alleged she and Adam had a fling that started on Instagram, comedian Maryka (center), artist Alyson Rose (right) and more women claimed he sent them inappropriate messages.

Dave & Toni

Hours after pics of musician Dave Galafassi, 44, kissing another woman surfaced on Dec. 7, his wife of 19 years, Toni Collette, 50, confirmed they'd separated.

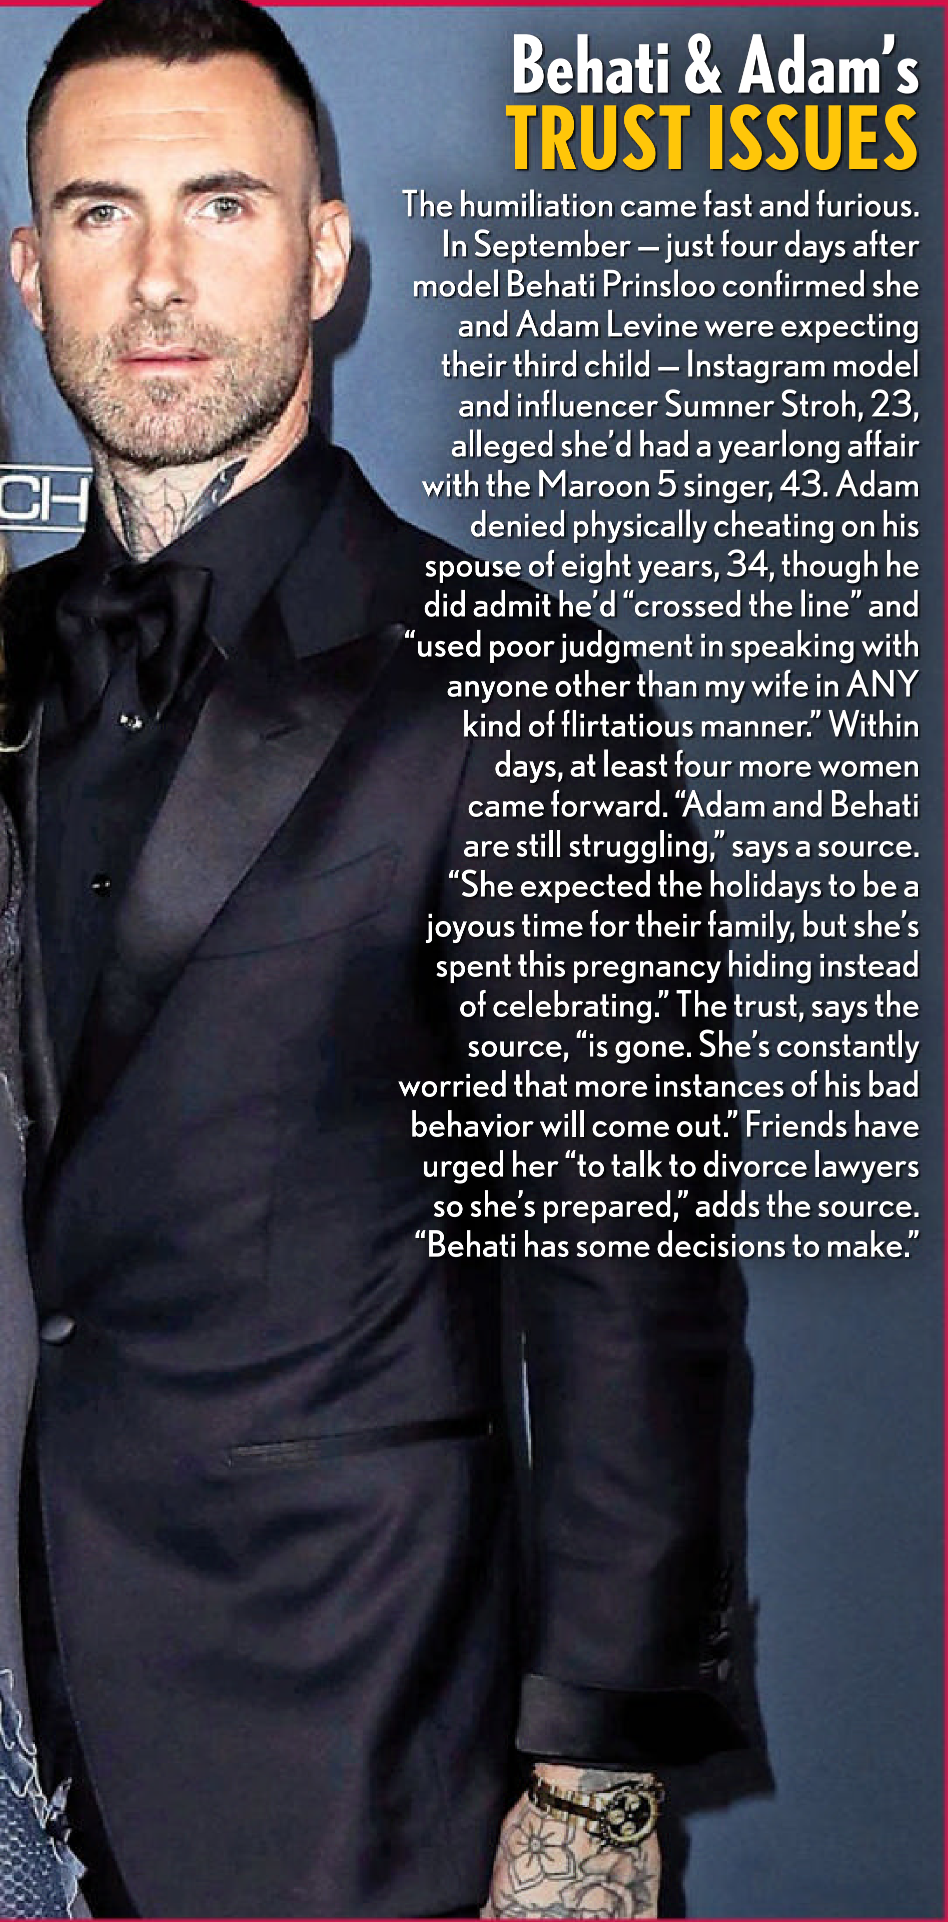


Tom & Gisele

Tom Brady's 13-year marriage to Gisele Bündchen, 42, ended in divorce on Oct. 28, seven months after the athlete, 45, unretired from the NFL.

Cory & Tia

Sister, Sister star Tia Mowry, 44, filed to divorce actor Cory Hardrict, 43, on Oct. 4, following 14 years of matrimony. He denied cheating as rumors of infidelity swirled.



Behati & Adam's TRUST ISSUES

The humiliation came fast and furious. In September — just four days after model Behati Prinsloo confirmed she and Adam Levine were expecting their third child — Instagram model and influencer Sumner Stroh, 23, alleged she'd had a yearlong affair with the Maroon 5 singer, 43. Adam denied physically cheating on his spouse of eight years, 34, though he did admit he'd "crossed the line" and "used poor judgment in speaking with anyone other than my wife in ANY kind of flirtatious manner." Within days, at least four more women came forward. "Adam and Behati are still struggling," says a source. "She expected the holidays to be a joyous time for their family, but she's spent this pregnancy hiding instead of celebrating." The trust, says the source, "is gone. She's constantly worried that more instances of his bad behavior will come out." Friends have urged her "to talk to divorce lawyers so she's prepared," adds the source. "Behati has some decisions to make."

Ryan & Eva: A GROWING DISTANCE

Eva Mendes and Ryan Gosling have kept their 11-year romance so quiet, it wasn't until November that she let it slip they'd secretly married, calling him her "husband" in an interview. Wedded life hasn't been all bliss, though. In recent months, Eva, 48, and their daughters, Esmeralda, 8, and Amada, 6, put everything aside to move to Australia so Ryan, 42, could shoot The Fall Guy right after wrapping Barbie in LA and London. "Ryan's working crazy hours and rarely gets to spend time with them. He often crashes on set or, when he does come home, in a separate bedroom," explains an insider. "Eva's having a difficult time and wondering how much more she can take."

THE YEAR IN CELEBRITY DIVORCES!

Kelsea & Morgan

On Aug. 29, Kelsea Ballerini, 29, announced her breakup from fellow country music singer Morgan Evans, 37, after nearly five years of marriage.

Tyler & Brittany

Two years post-wedding, Pitch Perfect actress Brittany Snow, 36, revealed it was over with Selling the OC hunk Tyler Stanaland, 33, on Sept. 14.

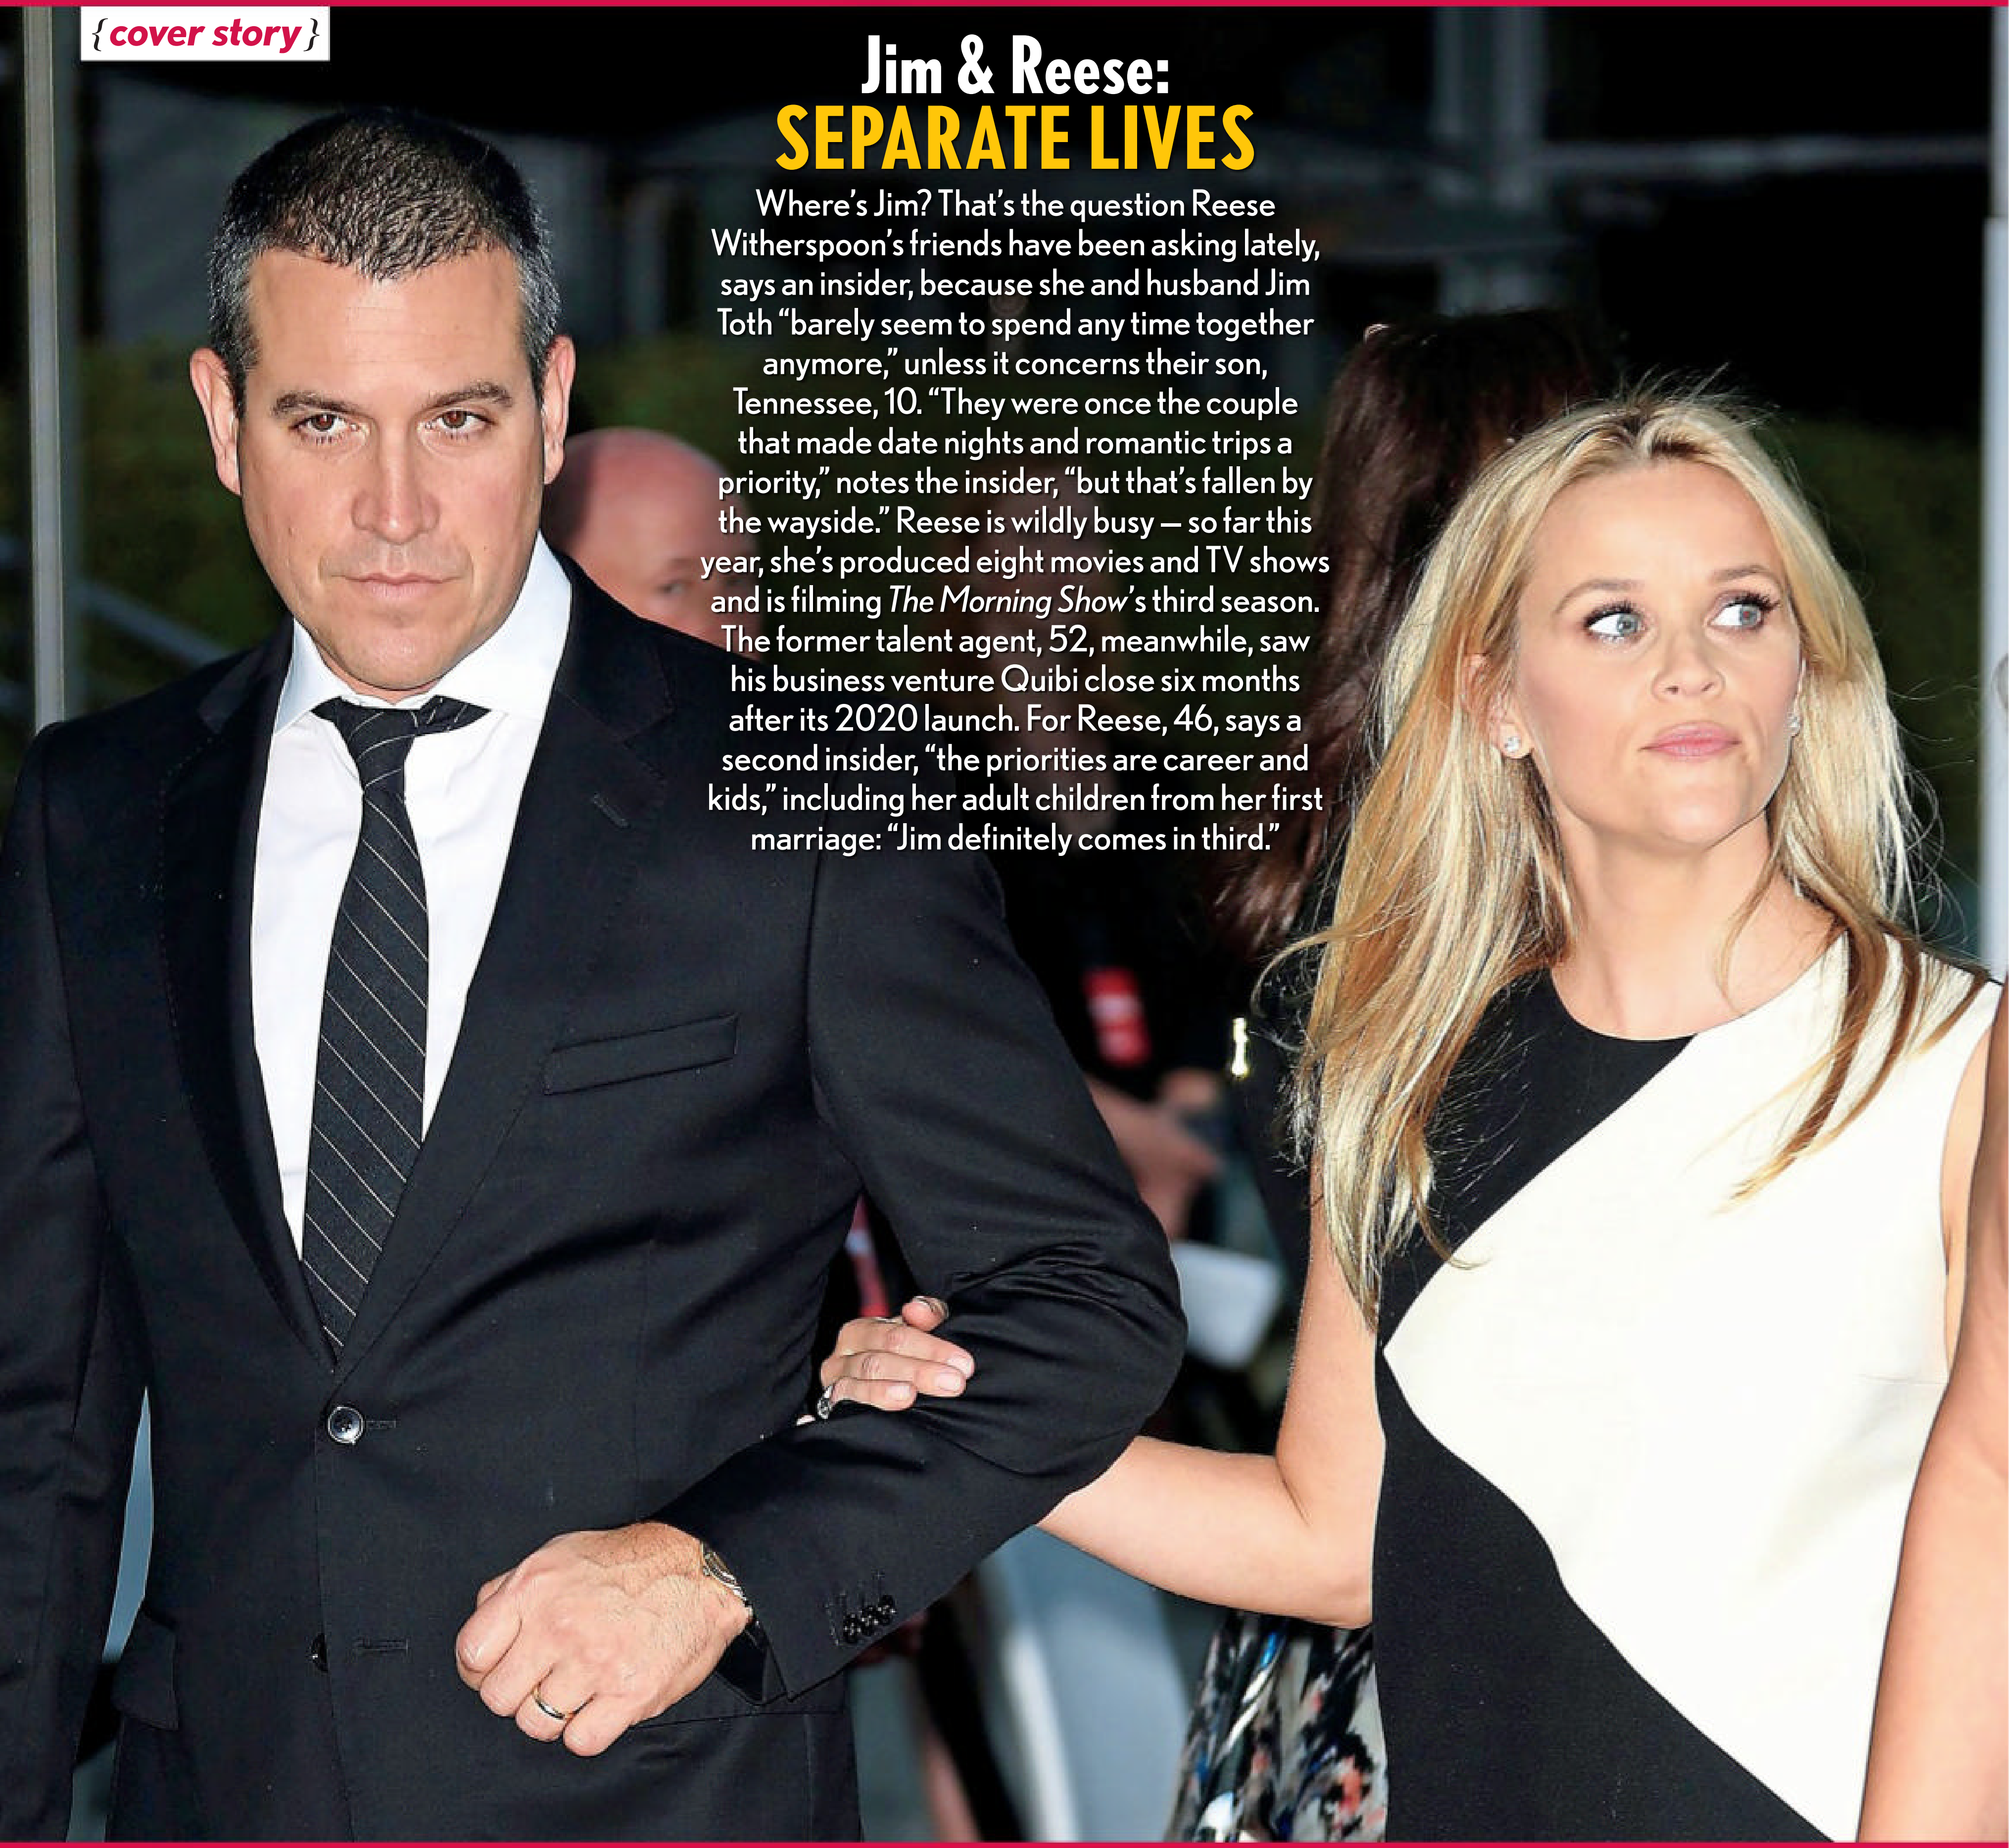
Crystal & Ne-Yo

In July, Crystal Renay, 36, accused Ne-Yo, 43, of serially cheating during their six-year union. Divorce docs alleged he fathered another woman's baby.

Jim & Reese: SEPARATE LIVES

Where's Jim? That's the question Reese Witherspoon's friends have been asking lately, says an insider, because she and husband Jim Toth "barely seem to spend any time together anymore," unless it concerns their son, Tennessee, 10. "They were once the couple that made date nights and romantic trips a priority," notes the insider, "but that's fallen by the wayside." Reese is wildly busy — so far this year, she's produced eight movies and TV shows and is filming The Morning Show's third season. The former talent agent, 52, meanwhile, saw his business venture Quibi close six months after its 2020 launch. For Reese, 46, says a second insider, "the priorities are career and kids," including her adult children from her first marriage: "Jim definitely comes in third."



MORE CELEBRITY DIVORCES!

Sebastian & Emily

Emily Ratajkowski, 31, moved on with Pete Davidson after leaving film producer Sebastian Bear-McClard in July amid claims he was unfaithful.

Vincent & Alexis

It took 16 days for the divorce between Mad Men star Vincent Kartheiser, 43, and Gilmore Girls actress Alexis Bledel, 41, to be finalized this August.

Jason & Lisa

After 16 years as a couple, four years of marriage, and two kids, Jason Momoa, 43, and Lisa Bonet, 55, shared on Jan. 12 they'd parted ways.

Filtered Reality

"They revealed what they wanted to," says a source of Harry and Meghan's show, which features cameos from pals like Serena Williams. "Nothing was forced."

Harry & Meghan THE UNSEEN

While Prince Harry and Meghan Markle share a lot in their Netflix docuseries, some of the juiciest bits didn't make the final cut!

Prince Harry and Meghan Markle spill plenty of secrets in their Netflix docuseries, Harry & Meghan. There's the Duke of Sussex, 38, discussing "one of the biggest mistakes" of his life — attending a costume party dressed in a Nazi uniform — the unveiling of the pair's nicknames for each other, H and M, and details of their first date (to which he was half an hour late). Self-proclaimed "hugger" Meghan, 41, also dished on finding herself at odds with Harry's buttoned-up royal relatives, while he lamented people being "happy to lie to protect" his 40-year-old brother, Prince William, but unwilling "to tell the truth to protect" his own family with Meghan.

Not everything made it on air, though. Insiders reveal to Life & Style that a lot of explosive moments wound up on the cutting room floor. "There's more than 200 hours of footage," notes a source close to the couple, "and only around six hours of footage used in the show."

LEAKED MOMENTS

Despite the series' many barbs directed at the palace — including repeat accusations about racism and "unconscious bias" — much of what the duo chose to cut apparently centered on their relationship with Harry's relatives. "When it came to editing, he and Meghan had a say in the amount of time they spent talking about the royals and in what context," notes the source. "There are some private conversations that Harry and Meghan had with Queen Elizabeth II prior to her death, which they decided not to share."

According to an insider, "there was also film of Harry going into explicit detail about his strained relationship with his family, especially with William — but some of that got pulled."

If Meghan had her way, they would have nixed even more footage. After the queen passed away in September at the age of 96, "Meghan felt uneasy about the airing of certain scenes, like discussing her first meeting with Elizabeth and having to curtsy," says the insider. "But it was too late to make changes."

Other intimate moments were axed in time. "A hilarious clip of Harry fixing Meghan breakfast in a T-shirt and boxer shorts didn't make it in," says the source, while the insider notes cameras once caught "the two bickering — although, it's hard to tell if they were serious or not."

Most off-limits for the project were Harry and Meghan's kids, Archie, 3, and Lilibet, 18 months. "They decided to limit glimpses of the children," says the source, "leaving out playdates and other cute moments."

Overall, "neither Harry nor Meghan has any serious regrets with the series," the insider insists. "They're pretty happy with the final result." L&S

CHARLES GETS HIS OWN COIN!

He's on the money! The Royal Mint unveiled the official coin effigy of King Charles III this fall, and the 50 pence pieces finally went into circulation in December. Designed by artist Martin Jennings, the image features the new monarch, 74, sans crown (like previous kings, but unlike his late mother). Charles himself signed off on the design and is said to be pleased with his likeness. Those still holding coins featuring the queen need not worry — they remain valid.

ROLE REVE

What could've been! Celebrities get candid about auditioning for iconic movie and TV parts

MICHELLE'S PURR-FECT TIMING

The first choice to play sexy villain Catwoman in 1992's Batman Returns? It wasn't eventual star Michelle Pfeiffer. "Someone was cast before me, Annette Bening, who is wonderful," the 64-year-old revealed during a Dec. 7 appearance on The Tonight Show. "And then she got pregnant. Awesome. And then I got the part." No doubt Annette, 64, and hubby Warren Beatty, 85 – who share four children together – were pleased with how things turned out, as well.

JESSICA'S "ONE" THAT GOT AWAY

Ryan Gosling and Rachel McAdams' smoldering chemistry in The Notebook led to a three-year off-screen romance. But Rachel, 44, wasn't the only actress interested in kissing Ryan, 42, in the rain in the 2004 tearjerker. "That's one that I wanted so badly," Jessica Biel, 40, once told Elle of the part, revealing she endured being put "through the wringer" during tryouts. "I was in the middle of shooting Texas Chainsaw Massacre, and I auditioned with Ryan Gosling in my trailer – covered in blood."

MATTHEW'S TITANIC LETDOWN

Matthew McConaughey may never let go of missing out on portraying Titanic's Jack in 1997. Last year, the 53-year-old dished that he was thisclose to snagging the lead from Leonardo DiCaprio, 48. "I read with Kate Winslet," he explained on Literally! with Rob Lowe, insisting the selection process had advanced to the screen-test phase. "I really thought it was going to happen." Kate, 47, has described their filmed interaction as "fantastic," too. Alas, Matthew was forced to go on with his acting career sans the Oscar-winning flick on his résumé.

RSALS

TIFF'S LOST FRIENDS

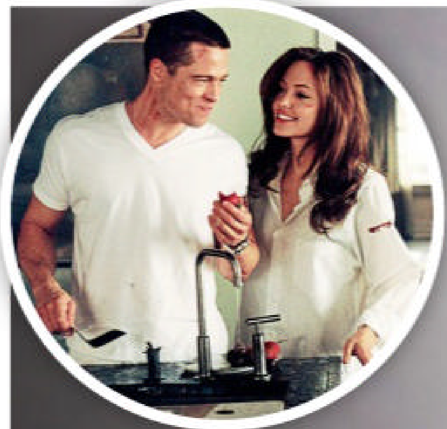
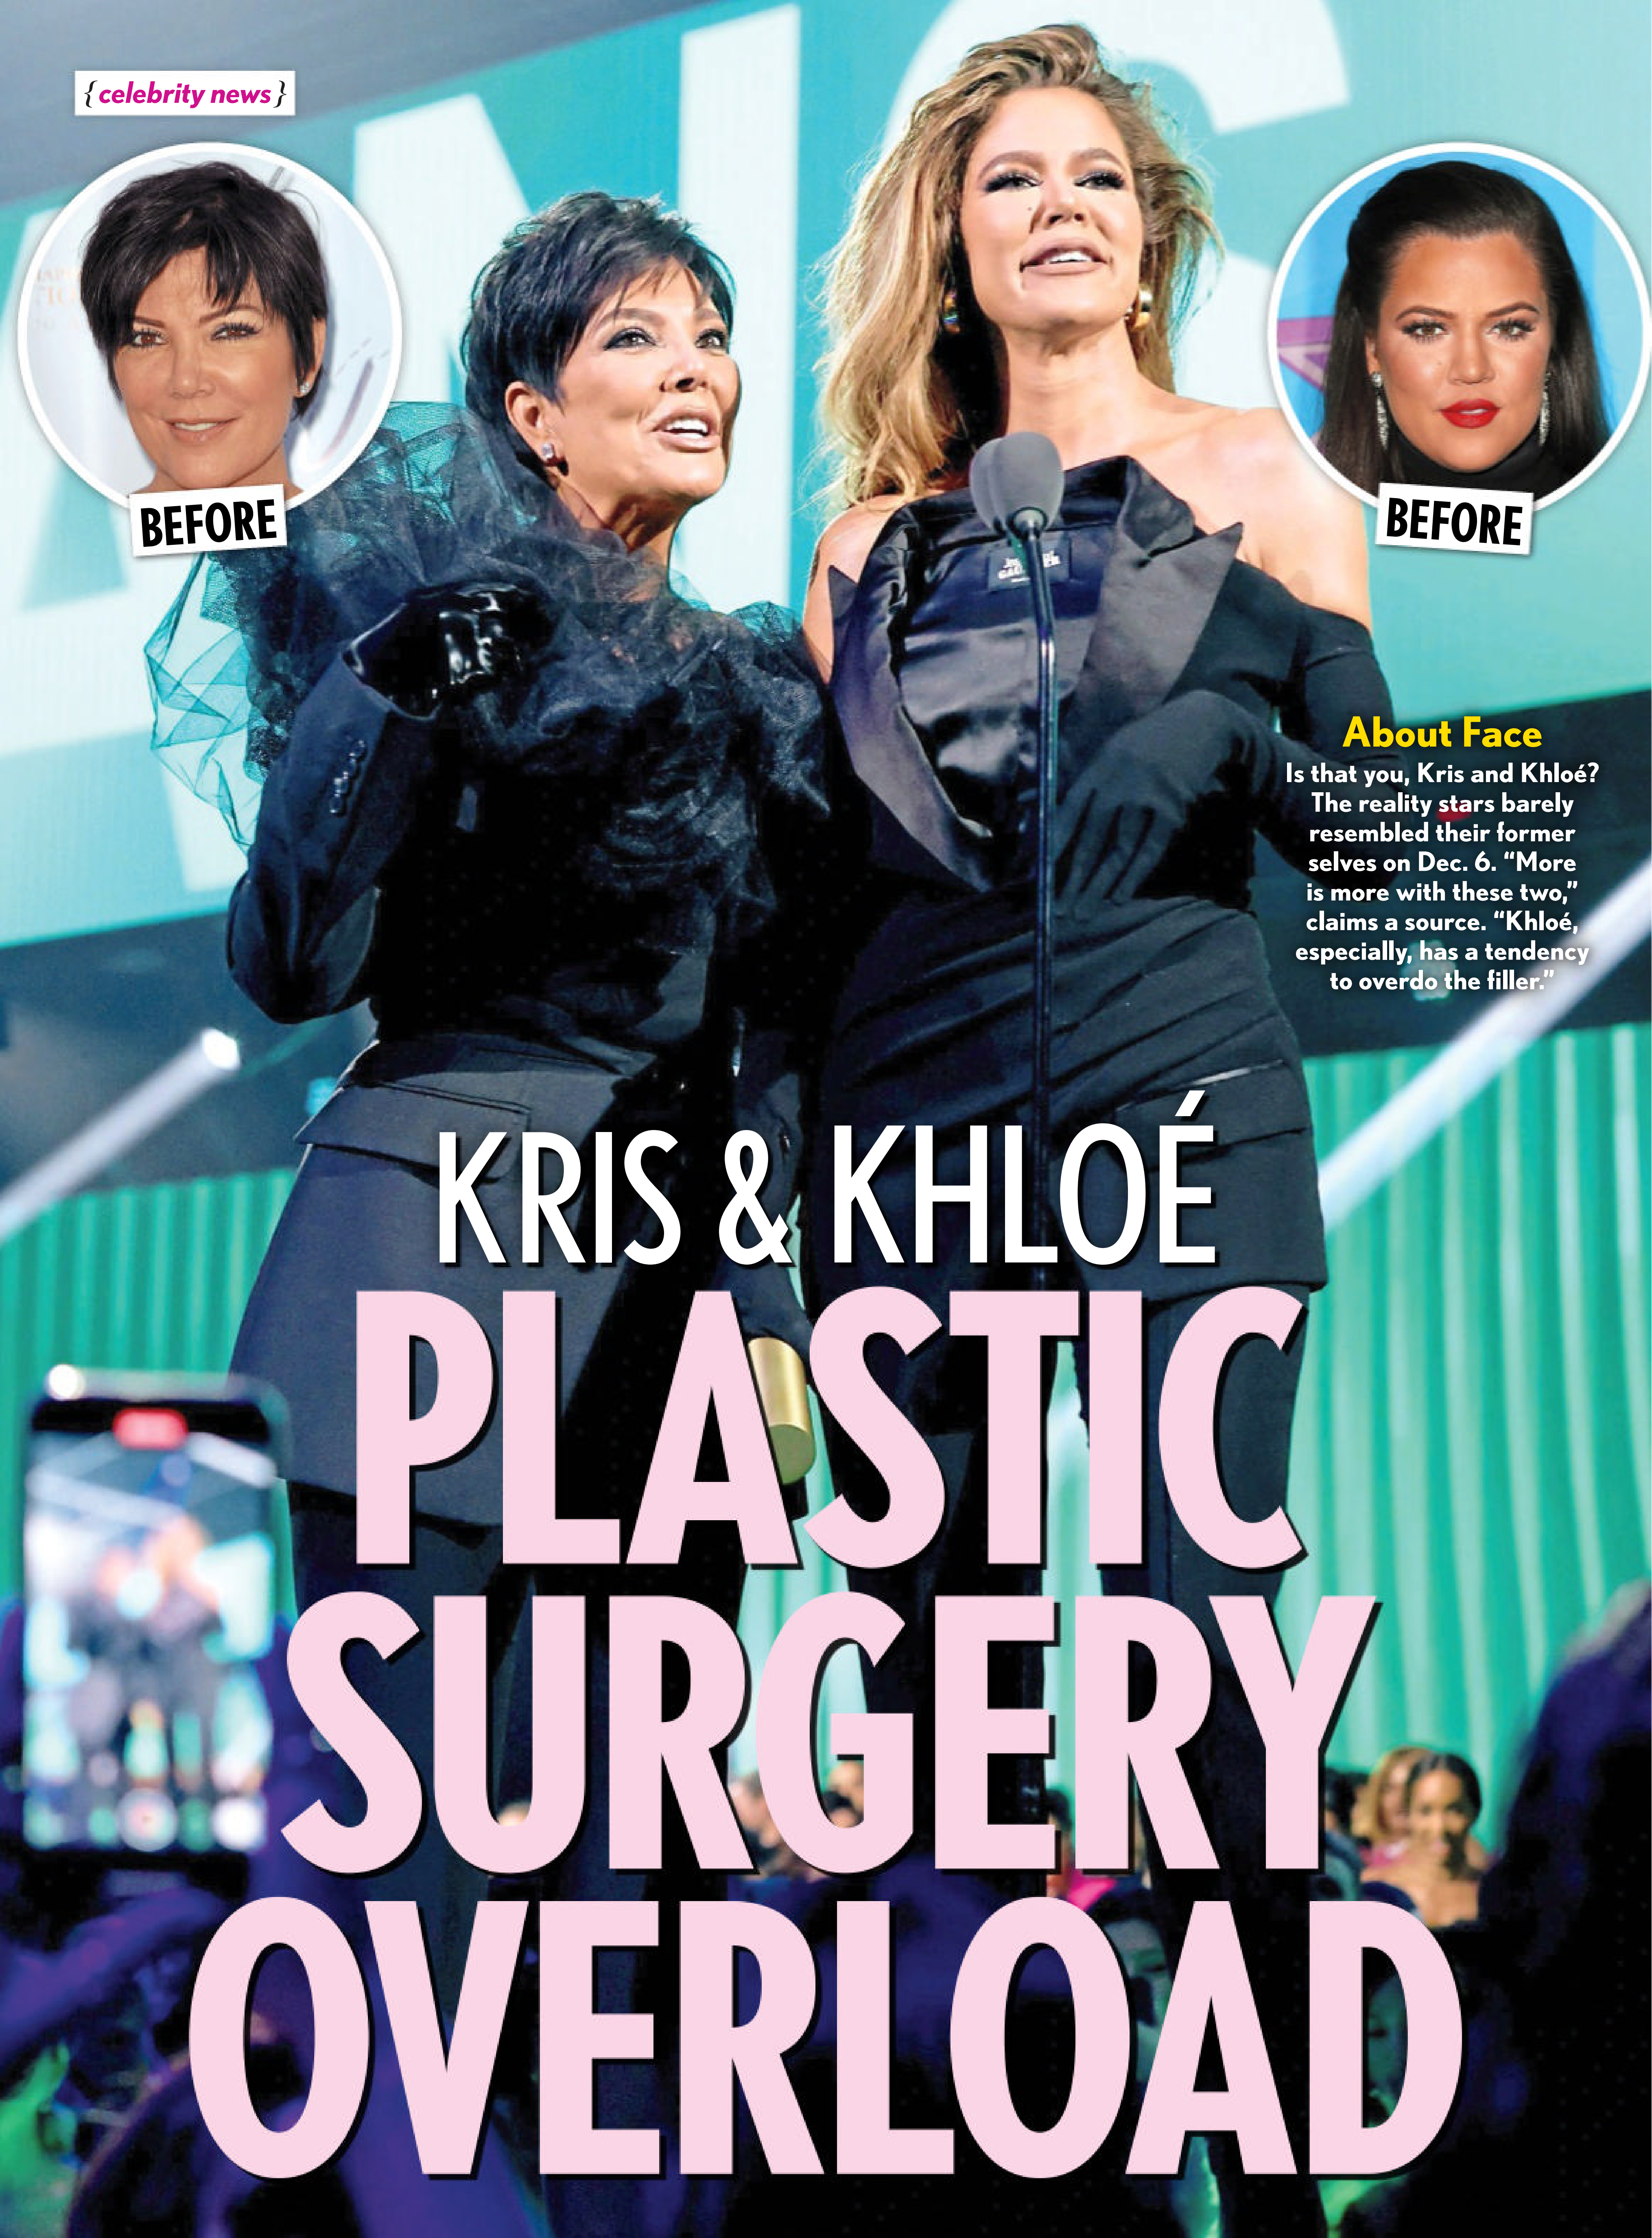
Friends' Rachel and Saved by the Bell's Kelly have a lot in common: Both characters were cheerleaders, both had on-again-off-again romances and five close pals…and both were almost depicted by Tiffani Thiessen. The brunette revealed on You Up with Nikki Glaser that she auditioned for the role Jennifer Aniston, 53, made famous. "I was just a little too young. I was a little too young [compared to] the rest of them," Tiffani, 48, said of the beloved cast, whose series premiered in 1994.



COULD GWEN HAVE BEEN MRS. PITT?

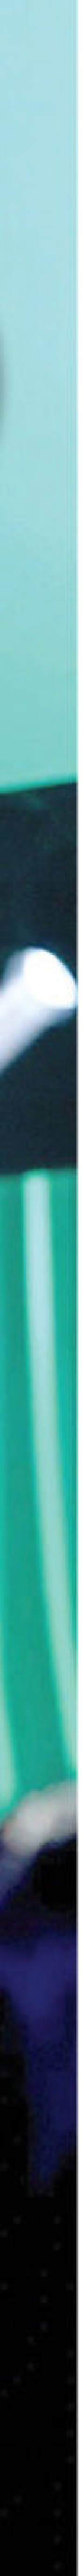
Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt, 59, infamously fell in love filming 2005's Mr. & Mrs. Smith. Things could've turned out very differently had Gwen Stefani been cast in the movie, though. According to the singer, it came down to her and Angie, 47, for the racy assassin part. "I almost got it," Gwen, 53, told The Howard Stern Show. "I wanted to do it, but I wanted to do music more."

KRIS & KHLOÉ
PLASTIC SURGERY OVERLOAD



About Face

Is that you, Kris and Khloé? The reality stars barely resembled their former selves on Dec. 6. "More is more with these two," claims a source. "Khloé, especially, has a tendency to overdo the filler."



Keeping up with Kris Jenner and Khloé Kardashian's mother-daughter nip-tucks isn't easy!

She's a veteran of unscripted TV. But this was a live mishap that Khloé Kardashian would no doubt like to take back. As Hulu's The Kardashians and Khloé herself were named the Reality Show of 2022 and the Reality TV Star of 2022, respectively, at the People's Choice Awards, the 38-year-old was late to join momager Kris Jenner, 67, on stage. "I had to run over there," she later recalled, blaming hair and outfit troubles. "I looked like a freak."

Her out-of-breath arrival wasn't all that had tongues wagging, though. During the Dec. 6 ceremony in Santa Monica, Khloé and Kris wore coordinated black suits — and showed off a pair of fresh new faces! "Now that they live next door to each other in Hidden Hills, Khloé and Kris are constantly getting treatments done together," spills a source of the ladies' penchant for injectables and plastic surgery. "The doctor comes right to Khloé's mansion! Every six weeks, she and Kris will get Botox and Sculptra filler. It's a little too much."

A FAMILY HABIT

Fans agree. "Calm down on whatever you're doing to your face," one Twitter user told Khloé following the mother-daughter duo's PCAs appearance, while another insisted the criticism was justified "when someone in the public eye comes out with a completely new face."

Khloé's admitted to getting a nose job and injections — and spoken about her desire for breast implants. Kris underwent her own boob job in the '80s before later splashing out on a face-lift and earlobe reduction in addition to Botox, filler and laser treatments.

According to the source, there are other procedures the ladies have undergone that no one knows about. "There are always innovations and trends in plastic surgery, and they love to know about all the new technology available," says the source. "They are borderline obsessive. It's as if they have an addiction."

In the past, Khloé confessed to struggling with her body image after being constantly compared to older sisters, Kim, 42, and Kourtney, 43. "It was always emphasized that they were so much prettier," she says. "Those things were definitely really hurtful."

Now she's trying not to care what the haters think. "My body, my image, and how I choose to look and what I want to share is my choice," she notes. "It's not for anyone to decide or judge what is acceptable."

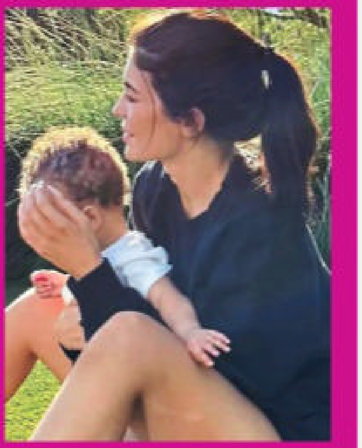
But her quest for physical perfection comes at a literal cost — as does her mom's. "Khloé and Kris easily spend $250,000 a year just on maintenance," dishes the source. "Adding in their various surgeries, they've spent well into the millions on their appearance! To Kris and Khloé, it's money well spent." L&S

TOP 5 KARJENNER MOMENTS OF 2022!

5 Kendall's Kitchen Fail

Cool as a cucumber? Not quite. Kendall Jenner, 27, went viral following a May 12 episode of The Kardashians that showed she didn't know how to cut a cuke. The model herself went on to call her lack of knife skills "tragic."

4 Kylie's Baby Name Game



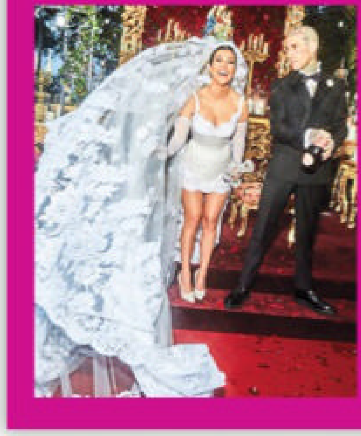
Mom brain! One month after giving birth to son Wolf in February, Kylie Jenner, 25, announced that she and partner Travis Scott, 31, were changing the little boy's name. They have yet to disclose their second child's new moniker — or make the switch legally official.

3 Kim Pays Tribute to Marilyn

Blondes have more fun? Kim made headlines at the Met Gala in May by wearing Marilyn Monroe's famous "Happy Birthday" dress. She lost 16 pounds to fit into the slinky style, which the screen legend donned in 1962 to serenade President John F. Kennedy.

2 Khloé Welcomes Kid No. 2!

Surprise! In July, it was revealed that Khloé and ex Tristan Thompson were expecting a second child via surrogate. Their son, who arrived just weeks later, had been conceived in 2021 — days before she learned her serial cheater boyfriend had fathered a baby with another woman.



1 Kourtney Finally Gets Hitched!

At last! Eldest sister Kourtney walked down the aisle for the first time, tying the knot with Travis Barker, 47, in Portofino, Italy, this past May. The lavish wedding ceremony featured the bride, groom and their guests outfitted in luxe Dolce & Gabbana designs.

PATIENT INFORMATION
PHEXXI® (FEX ee)
(lactic acid, citric acid, and potassium bitartrate) vaginal gel
For Vaginal Use Only

What is PHEXXI?

- PHEXXI is a prescription medicine used to prevent pregnancy in females who can become pregnant and choose to use an on-demand method of birth control.
- PHEXXI is not effective at preventing pregnancy when used after vaginal sex.

How well does PHEXXI work?

Your chance of getting pregnant depends on how well you follow the directions for using PHEXXI. The better you follow the directions, the less chance you have of getting pregnant. It is very important that you follow the directions carefully each time you have vaginal sex.

PHEXXI does not protect against HIV infection or other sexually transmitted infections (STIs).

Before using PHEXXI, tell your healthcare provider about all of your medical conditions, including if you:

- are pregnant or think you are pregnant. PHEXXI is not for use in pregnant women.
- are breastfeeding or plan to breastfeed. It is not known if PHEXXI passes into your breast milk.

Tell your healthcare provider about all the medicines you take, including prescription and over-the-counter medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements.

Know the medicines you take. Keep a list of them to show your healthcare provider and pharmacist when you get a new medicine.

How should I use PHEXXI?

- See the Instructions for Use that come with PHEXXI for detailed instructions on the right way to use PHEXXI.
- Use PHEXXI exactly as your healthcare provider tells you to use it.
- PHEXXI must be used before vaginal sex.
- PHEXXI comes as a pre-filled single-dose vaginal applicator.
- Insert 1 PHEXXI pre-filled applicator into your vagina and use PHEXXI within 1 hour before each time you have vaginal sex. If you do not have vaginal sex within 1 hour of using PHEXXI, you must insert a new PHEXXI pre-filled applicator.
- If you have vaginal sex more than 1 time within 1 hour, you must use a new PHEXXI pre-filled applicator.
- PHEXXI may be used at any time during the menstrual cycle.
- PHEXXI may be used as soon as your healthcare provider tells you it is safe for you to have vaginal sex after childbirth, abortion, or miscarriage.
- PHEXXI may be used with hormonal contraceptives; and latex, polyurethane and polyisoprene condoms. PHEXXI may be used with a vaginal diaphragm. Avoid using PHEXXI with contraceptive vaginal rings.
- PHEXXI may be used with other medicines used in the vagina to treat infections including miconazole, metronidazole and tioconazole.

What are the possible side effects of PHEXXI?

PHEXXI may cause serious side effects, including:

- Bladder infection (cystitis) and acute kidney infection (pyelonephritis). Urinary tract infections are common but can also be serious. You should not use PHEXXI if you have a history of urinary tract infections that keep coming back or other problems with your urinary tract. Call your healthcare provider if you have burning with urination or other signs and symptoms of a urinary tract infection such as: burning feeling when passing urine, urine that looks cloudy, pain in the pelvis, or back pain.
- Allergic reactions. Avoid using PHEXXI if you are a female who can become pregnant and are allergic to lactic acid, citric acid, potassium bitartrate or any of the ingredients in PHEXXI; or your sexual partners are allergic to any of the ingredients in PHEXXI. Stop using PHEXXI if you have a local vulvovaginal reaction.
- The most common side effects of PHEXXI include:
    - vaginal burning
    - vaginal itching
    - vaginal yeast infection
    - discomfort around the vaginal area
    - bacterial vaginosis
    - vaginal discharge
    - discomfort in the genital area
    - pain while passing urine

These are not all the possible side effects of PHEXXI.

Call your healthcare provider for medical advice about side effects. You may report side effects to FDA at 1-800-FDA1088.

How should I store PHEXXI?

- Store PHEXXI at room temperature between 68°F to 77°F (20°C to 25°C).
- Store PHEXXI in the original foil pouch.

Keep PHEXXI and all medicines out of the reach of children.

General information about the safe and effective use of PHEXXI.

Medicines are sometimes used for purposes other than those listed in a Patient Information leaflet. Do not use PHEXXI for a condition for which it was not prescribed. Do not give PHEXXI to other people, even if they have the same symptoms that you have. It may harm them.

You can ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist for information about PHEXXI that is written for health professionals.

What are the ingredients in PHEXXI?

Active ingredients: lactic acid, citric acid, and potassium bitartrate

Inactive ingredients: glycerin, alginic acid, xanthan gum, sodium hydroxide, benzoic acid, and purified water
